

Forestry Innovations— Thinking Outside the Box, while Inside the Woods

Far too often foresters get stuck in a rut, doing the same thing the same way, just because we know it works. Today's theme is innovation. We will present a series of six new ideas, and techniques to help manage Maine forests. Attendees will be exposed to some cutting edge and/or unique methods to get things done.

The innovations are varied and may not apply directly to all foresters and all situations, but it is useful to know what can be accomplished. You never know when you may be faced with logging on an island, thinning with herbicides or working with family forests. By the end of the day you will have some new ideas and renewed energy and enthusiasm for making projects happen.
